

OUT ON THE LIMB
With George Vierhus

NOW THAT IT HAS BEEN determined that those two walnut trees that The Press is using in the masthead are officially, by City Council action, a historical landmark of the city, we are anxious for the next step to materialize.

Plans call for the area around the trees to be landscaped and a rustic bench placed under the trees. The bench, by the way, will be made from the famous Roosevelt Redwood, another former landmark. That tree, located at Winchester and Campbell Ave., had to be cut down when the intersection was improved.

For those who tuned in late, the Roosevelt Redwood was planted by President Theodore Roosevelt in the early 1900's.

The tiny park that will be eventually developed in the shade of those majestic limbs will be an attractive addition to the community. We hope to assume also that the plans include cooperation on the part of the Southern Pacific to do something about making it easier to cross the tracks.

The sidewalk now ends at the trees. It picks up again on the other side.

Crossing the tracks now is for the birds.

We say birds because they can fly over the rails. We poor mortals haven't the advantage of wings.

For youngsters it may be sort of fun to walk on and off rails. But we observed an elderly lady trying to maneuver her market cart full of groceries across them. She was having quite a time.

Her expression didn't indicate she was having fun.

BIKE RIDING seems to be growing in popularity among the adults even on the heavy traveled main thoroughfares.

We admire those brave souls who appear unconcerned about the onrushing traffic as they pedal their two-wheeled vehicles down the road. We don't like heavy traffic even when we are behind the wheel of our car.

Maybe bike riders generate a confidence all their own. We are tempted, in a lukewarm way, to give it a whirl one of these days, in the interest of research.

THIS WAS BROUGHT to mind recently when we observed what we assumed to be a young mother pedaling along the shoulder of Bascom.

On the handle-bars was a young child and on the luggage carrier behind was another youngster.

Another example of modern day bicycling was the recent exploit of our nephew, Rick Vierhus, a junior at San Jose State. Rick, who works part-time at The Press, often rides his bike to work from Blossom Hill Road in

Chamber of Commerce names new manager

James H. Duffield, Pasadena Chamber of Commerce executive, and community leader with many years of experience in the Chamber of Commerce and public relations fields, has been appointed secretary-manager of the Campbell Chamber of Commerce, replacing Paul A. Landwehr, who recently resigned due to health reasons.

This was announced by chamber President Richard Hardy, who said that Duffield will assume his new duties on Monday, August 16.

Duffield was former executive manager of the Canoga Park Chamber of Commerce before taking his Pasadena assignment, and a recipient of that chamber's Distinguished Service Award for outstanding community leadership and service.

He is former director of the Canoga Park Chamber of Commerce, San Fernando Valley Business and Professional Association, American Chamber of Commerce Executives, The American Red Cross, and Boy Scouts of America, in addition to being a member of the East Pasadena Kiwanis Club, and Public Relations Executives, and was a graduate of the Institute of Chamber of Commerce Managers.

Duffield formerly served as public and industrial relations manager of the Western Electric Company in Chicago and Lincoln, Nebraska. During World War II, Duffield served as security and intelligence officer for the Northwest Service Command, Fairbanks, Alaska.

Proposed controls for gas stations cause big flurry

Campbell's initial move to establish better controls over the location of service stations and drive-in establishments within the city limits found rough going at the Planning Commission meeting Monday night, indicating that there is a rocky road ahead before new controls become the law of the city.

Opponents to the suggested changes in the city ordinance blasted the proposals as being too "rigid" in a marathon public hearing that lasted until midnight.

A repeat performance of Monday night's session will probably take place on August 16, for the commission acceded to the requests of many of the opponents and continued the hearing until the next meeting to allow for more study on some of the controversial points by both opponents and proponents.

The long-drawn out meeting Monday took its toll on the commission members with only four on hand at the "magic hour" of midnight. Both Commissioners Homer Hyde and Jim Tomlinson had to leave before adjournment. Commissioner Frank Klein was absent to start with.

The four remaining members felt that three other hearings on Monday's agenda, in addition to the drive-in-service-station hassle should be continued also to allow the absent commissioners to participate in any action.

Months of preparation by the city staff, headed by Dick Hogan, planning director, had gone into the proposed changes in the city ordinance that defines as well as regulates various business activities within the city limits.

Copies of the proposals have been distributed and an interested audience followed paragraph by paragraph as Hogan went through the amendments page by page, for the benefit of the commissioners.

DEFINITIONS

Definitions of "shopping centers" and "outdoor business activity" caused the first flare-up. A shopping center is defined as a cluster of shops etc. with 300-foot depth or more on a minimum of three acres undivided by public streets and "abutting on at least two sides by public streets."

Questions were raised about centers in the middle of a block and

Youngsters give summer concert

More than 300 boys and girls registered in the Campbell Union (elementary) School District's summer music program will participate in a concert this Thursday, August 5, in the Campbell Elementary School multi-purpose room.

Every student will perform in one or more ensembles in the concert which is the climax of a five-week course that began on July 6. The concert begins at 7:30 p.m.

During the five-week period students, who come from every part of the school district, received instruction every weekday morning from 9 a.m. to noon. Ten of the students come from other school districts and a number are from parochial schools.

The instruction staff includes 10 skilled professional music teachers under the direction of Ed Tonini, who is the overall director of the summer music program for the 11th summer and in his 13th summer as a staff member. Besides administering the program, Tonini teaches advanced brass and advanced band. Earlier this summer he worked on the staff of Pacific Music Camp of the University of Pacific at Stockton. He has completed 12 years as an instrumental music instructor in the Campbell school district.

The music program for the district has long received the support of the community and the district administration and has established an enviable reputation throughout the state.

The summer music program, the staff points out, is on an accelerated scale. Students have two classes in their chosen instrument each day,

C. of C. manager

A new manager of the Campbell Chamber of Commerce will assume his duties on August 16. James H. Duffield, of Pasadena, a man apparently well-versed in Chamber of Commerce activities, has been appointed to replace Paul Landwehr, who has resigned from the position because of health reasons.

We welcome Duffield to town. We also add that he has his work cut out for him.

Under Landwehr's tenure, the local C. of C. has made great strides forward. It has become a Chamber of Commerce in action as well as words. Paul has been largely responsible for developing a new esprit de corps among the directors and members.

He has generated enthusiasm that is needed to make the Chamber of Commerce a "working body" and not just a loosely knit group of business people.

Paul's task has not been an easy one. He has been a pioneer, so to speak, in the establishing of a unity of purpose which, in our opinion, is the basic step that had to be taken.

Now that this basic step has been taken, it is necessary to expand and progress.

There is a definite need for an aggressive and progressive C. of C. in this town.

Coordinating of the efforts toward the common goal of a better community in which to live and work will be the prime concern of the new manager, James Duffield.

We commend Landwehr for his efforts on behalf of the community during the past three years. The groundwork has been laid.

Duffield's task will be to build from there.

We sincerely hope he will get the cooperation of all concerned, without which there can be no progress.

Let's drop it---

The Press during the past several weeks has published a number of editorials on the future destiny of the Old Settlers celebration.

The editorials attempted to bring into focus the situation that exists. The basic question is whether the time and effort involved in putting on the traditional event, which has been in existence for more than 70 years, is worth the chips.

For a number of years the Chamber of Commerce has assumed the responsibility of staging the event on a somewhat curtailed plane. But C. of C. officials have indicated that it has taken too much time from other duties of the Chamber. The C. of C. would prefer to drop the celebration as a C. of C. function.

We had hoped that our editorials would stir some community interest in the event, either pro or con.

We thought also that there might be a possibility that some organization of the community would volunteer to pick up the ball and run with it.

The suggestion has been made that the Junior Chamber of Commerce might be interested in assuming the responsibility for putting on the celebration. But so far there has been nothing official on that score.

This lack of response seems to indicate to us that the community as a whole does not care whether the celebration survives or perishes.

It follows then that unless the community desires that the Old Settlers event continue, it should be dropped.

Although we have consistently maintained that every community needs an annual event to help maintain its identity and to stimulate community spirit, the people in the area first must show some enthusiasm for such an event. Otherwise it appears to us it would be a losing cause.

True, we recognize, that perhaps enthusiasm for the Old Settlers celebration could be stimulated and perhaps necessary community spirit could be generated. But, from where we sit, it does not appear that Old Settlers, despite its seniority in the ranks of celebrations in the state, has the proper formula for success.

Perhaps there is another theme that our community can use that would provoke more enthusiasm. Maybe this is the channel that should be explored.

We suggest, based on the apathy that apparently exists on the part of the citizenry as a whole as to what happens to Old Settlers celebration, that the celebration be dropped.

We also suggest that steps then be taken either by city or Chamber of Commerce officials to explore the possibilities of finding another community-wide event that will have a greater appeal.

It is sort of sad to make such a suggestion. We have been involved in one way or another with at least 10 of the Old Settlers celebrations. We have always felt that the event could provide a good foundation for a community-wide festivity. But somehow it hasn't clicked in that respect.

So, maybe it is time to forget it and its long and eventful history and take a new approach. What do you think?

MORE ABOUT

Gas stations

The definition of outdoor business activity also drew fire.

Although the definition was drawn to control basically drive-in restaurants, the question was raised as to whether a drive-in bank was not in the same category. Banks are excepted, it was ruled.

The proposals also specified that service stations and drive-in establishments could only be located at the intersection of two public streets or in shopping centers.

After the commission members had hashed over the various points, the hearing was opened for opponents and proponents in the audience to speak their pieces.

NONE IN FAVOR

When Chairman Thayer Lyons called for those in favor of the ordinance to sound off, no one stirred.

But it was a different story for the opponents. Six members from the audience went to the mike to make their points.

The most telling blows were struck by Bob Harrison, representing the Western Oil and Gas Association, the trade group for the oil companies.

Harrison, in a prepared statement, pinpointed the conditions that the industry opposed which included the type of signs that would be allowed; the location of stations only at major intersections; the minimum lot size and the type of walls provided.

He asked whether present stations would be non-conforming if the ordinance was adopted and would outdoor activities cover "underground tanks".

He suggested that the new ordinance would be too restrictive but the industry was not opposed to having specific standards or locations outlined.

OTHERS SPEAK

Planners okay two variances

Only four issues were resolved at the Planning Commission meeting Monday night at which most of the four-hour session was spent in discussion over proposed controls for service-stations and drive-ins (see separate story).

Prior to embarking on the service-station, etc., public hearing, the Commission:

--APPROVED a variance request for the First Christian Church which is planning a new building at 1589 Pollard Road. After the church plans were completed, it was found that a "sliver" of property forced the church to need an approximately four-foot side-yard variance on the west side adjacent to the property owned by H. J. Perrotta who objected to the variance.

--APPROVED the plans of Arlie Helms for a 25-bed convalescent hospital at 238 Virginia Ave.

--APPROVED the request of S. D. Fillmore at 656 Sobrato for a variance in rear yard setback from 20-feet to 15-feet, 10-inches to allow construction of a screened patio.

Public hearings on the development plans of Chez and Grattan on property at Hamilton and Marathon; of proposed amendment to the parking and loading requirements of the city's municipal code and on amendments to residential yard requirements were continued to August 16 along with the controversial service station control change.

He and a college pal one Saturday took off for San Francisco on their bikes.

Rick reports that they made it to San Francisco in five hours. (They didn't ride all the way on their bikes. They parked them in Daly City, rode into S. F. on the bus and took the bus back to Daly City and rode them home in four hours.)

We thought this was quite a feat, inasmuch as bike riders are not allowed on the freeway. This necessitated the two bicyclists to traverse a more or less circuitous route to the City.

Admittedly these observations have stimulated our interest. But we have not yet reached the point where we are ready to discard four-wheels for two. But stranger things have happened.

Recently, for example, we walked from our house to the office.

That was an interesting and novel experience.

Although we walk probably ten times that far on a golf course, for years anything over two blocks has meant driving.

IN WALKING one gets an entirely different impression than in driving.

For example, we noted in our short jaunt how much of a menace and a nuisance cars have become.

Not only has it become imperative to have ample parking areas for every business but even in the residential areas, where two or more cars per home is the rule and not the exception, cars present a problem. We noted a number of flagrant violations to both city ordinances and state vehicle codes on residential streets while ambling along in a leisurely manner.

At one house, for example, a panel truck with the firm's name on it was parked in front on the left side of the street (violation of the vehicle code). We noted later that the truck apparently remains overnight in the same spot (violation of city ordinance).

From now on we plan to do our walking in the country.

You are only concerned with the view that away.

Campbell-Moreland wins Pony League tourney

Campbell-Moreland Pony League all-stars, world champions in 1964, crossed the first hurdle last week in their drive for a repeat performance when they won the district tournament staged at the Castro Junior High field.

The team now moves into the sectional tournament in Martinez this Thursday.

The local team went through the double-elimination playoff without losing a game, wrapping up the district crown on Sunday by defeating Santa Clara City League 7-2.

Campbell-Moreland defeated Watsonville 4-1 in the opener on Tuesday; came back on Friday to turn back Santa Clara City League 3-0 and then climaxed their sparkling performance by winning the final from Santa Clara on Sunday.

Joe Lobrovich was the winning pitcher for Tuesday's game with Bob Dekeyerel relieving. Chuck Hawthorne was behind the plate in all three games.

On Friday Duane Kubo, one of the three holdovers from last year's world championship squad, twirled a nifty two-hitter. He fanned eight batters in the shutout victory.

In the final battle on Sunday Grant Shimizu started and was relieved by Bob Dekeyerel the second. Dekeyerel pitched superb ball for the balance of the contest. For his performance on the mound he was awarded one of the two trophies given for most valuable player in the game.

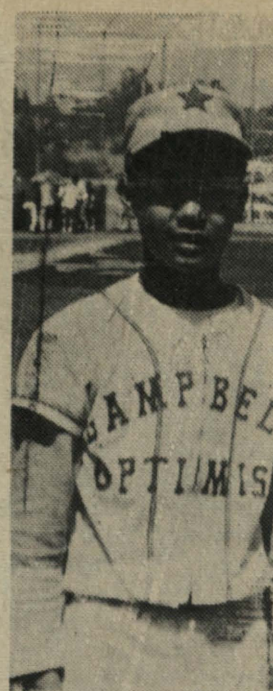

Mike Ucci, another veteran from last year, received the other most valuable player award. His clutch hitting performance played a big part in the wins. He hit a single and double, batting in two runs. During the regular season Ucci batted .726.

Andy Vasquez, another of the '65 players, also belted a double and Rick Scott collected two as the Campbell-Moreland team touched Santa Clara pitchers for a total of 11 hits.

Campbell went ahead in the first inning with two runs and Santa Clara tied it up in the second. The locals, however, picked up a tally in the third, three in the fifth and one in the seventh to win 7-2.

Joe Gagliardi, who directed last year's team to the world championship, is again manager with Pete Raich as coach. Roger Gaetjen, league president was tournament director.

Four from here enter road race this weekend

Four men from Campbell will drive their cars this weekend, August 7-8, in the Candlestick National Championship Road Races in San Francisco.

They are Jim Wellington of 346 Cloverdale Lane, who drives a silver Porsche Abarth; Walt Mathewson of 810 Virginia Court, who owns an Autodynamics formula Vee car; and Jon Milledge of 430 Queens Court, who drives a green Lotus Super 7, and Al Norman, 1620 W. Villarita Drive, Orange Lotus.

The Candlestick National Championships have attracted top entries. Texas oilman Jim Hall will be driving his Chevrolet-powered Chaparral in the main event.

Hall is 1964 United States Road Racing Champion, and his Chaparral is the first American car to ever win the Sebring 12 hour endurance race.

NEWS FROM HAMILTON HOME PARK-- We have beautiful mobile homes in our park. They are spacious and easy to take care of. Many of them are air conditioned with large windows, large bedrooms and wall to wall carpets.

Mine has a frost free refrigerator, an all stainless steel range and a beautiful wall oven. It takes about an hour in the morning to straighten up.

They are just perfect for older people or even a family. One thing you can be sure of is the safety of the children in our park.

The rules and laws are just as they are in the city. The small children can't go out of the park because our adult section keeps an eye on them in front by the entrance.

The upkeep is at a minimum, no taxes of course. The parking is very reasonable. I think if you really want to relax and even save money, you should look into mobile home living.

(Newsie Bits) Our pancake breakfast will be soon. Our shuffle board should be finished this week, and of course our Bingo Game is tomorrow night.

MR. AND MRS. FRANK HALL are expecting their second child any day now. MRS. EDITH WHITE is home from the hospital and feeling much better.

We had a little tornado in the park last Wednesday. It hit the patio in front of the office and threw the tables and chairs all over the street.

Judy Rae Clarkson graduates from American Stewardess College

Flying is no new experience to Judy Rae Clarkson, of Campbell, Calif.

She took her first flight when she was eight years old.

But flying as one of American Airlines' chic uniformed Astrojet stewardesses is brand new to Judy.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. Clarkson, 2237 Montezuma, she has just earned her silver wings at American's Stewardess College in Fort Worth, Texas.

"I've flown a lot and I've always enjoyed it so much that I thought the best way to fly as much as I wanted to and to see all the places I want to see was to become a stewardess," Judy said.

A former librarian, Judy applied to American and was accepted for the ninth class of the year at Stewardess College, the only one of its kind in the world.

"We had a pretty full seven weeks of training," Judy said. "There were 43 of us from all over the United States in class and we learned more than a hundred different subjects—things like make-up and grooming, stewardess procedural courses, rules and regulations, even meteorology," she said.

"My favorites were the make-up and grooming courses. The college has two instructors who devote full time to teaching us how to bring out the best in ourselves," Judy said.

While in training Judy and her classmates spent an average of seven hours a day in class and flew observation trips on two weekends. They lived at the college, which is located at Fort Worth's Greater Southwest Airport.

Built eight years ago at a cost of $1,000,000, the college is now undergoing a $600,000 expansion program which will increase the capacity from 800 girls per year to 1,000.

In addition to the usual girl's college facilities the stewardess college has its own heated swimming pool, picnic grounds on the 20-acre campus, color TV, tennis courts and other recreational fixtures.

Judy is a graduate of Campbell High and attended San Jose Junior College, where she majored in English.

She has modeled in fashion shows in San Francisco and Santa Clara and was selected by the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce to represent the city in the Worlds' Trade Fair in 1963.

Her hobbies are swimming and, naturally, traveling.

"I hope next vacation to revisit Germany," Judy said. "We lived there for four years and I loved the country."

Upon graduation from Stewardess College, Judy chose Washington, D. C., as her home base, from where she is flying Astrojets to New York, Los Angeles, San Francisco and other cities throughout the United States.

"I don't know how long I plan to fly," Judy smiled, "but right now I feel like 'forever.'"

DIRECTOR--Ed Toni- ni, director of the summer music program in the Campbell Union (elementary) School District, leads members of the ad- vanced band group in a practice session. A summer concert will be presented this Thurs- day, August 5, at Campbell Elementary School with more than 300 youngsters partici- pating as a culmination of a five-week program of the district.

MORE ABOUT Summer concert

The director explains that a violinist just start- ing out will take begin- ning strings in third period, beginning string ensemble fourth period and perhaps re- creational games and folk singing in the first two periods.

At the concert stu- dents will perform for just 90 minutes. During this time however, the audience will hear every student, grouped in beginning woodwind, brass and string ensem- bles, intermediate orchestra and band, advanced orchestra and band, choir and folk singing, and the drum corps.

In addition to Tonini, other Campbell district regular teachers on the staff include, Wally Johnson, Ray Johnson and Don Bryant. Bill Autry comes from Franklin McKinley School District; Joe Cathy from Wilson Intermediate School in Santa Clara, Bill Per- kins from his post as band instructor at Campbell High and Camille Piazza from Jefferson School Dis- trict.

School administrators begin workshop sessions in district

Administrators of Campbell Union School District began a month- long administrative workshop this week. Their sessions will include practical sub- jects designed to pre- pare them to give maximum help to teachers who face the start of a new school year Monday, Septem- ber 13.

After the first gen- eral meeting to launch the administrative workshop, principals will go back to their schools to make on- the-spot inspections to determine everything required to have the classrooms ready when the teachers arrive.

The first meeting deals with the new superintendent's edu- cational philosophy and plans for administra- tive operation of the district, plus records and reports that will be needed, check of prin- cipals' work orders, plans for delivery of supplies to the schools, registrations already on hand for new stu- dents.

Assistant Superin- tendent James D'Avis will bring principals up to date on state text- books; how many are on hand, when others will arrive and when the books will be delivered to their schools.

District Librarian Elaine Hendricks will report on progress in providing new library facilities and getting existing libraries ready for school.

Special consultants will let principals know what to expect in meet- ings on particular subjects to be taught. Mrs. Helen Petersen will give an orienta- tion about the new mathematics textbooks for grades 3, 4, 5, 6 and 8. She will be conducting an instruc- tional workshop as part of the total adminis- trative workshop.

During the month, one afternoon has been set aside to visit the county office of education for a refresher talk on services available to the district.

California Elemen- tary School Adminis- trators' Association will send a representa- tive to address the group. D'Avis will arrange for a special fire safety program. Consultants in subjects such as music will con- duct sessions also planned to help prin- cipals.

The administrators will also visit the I. B. M. plant one morn- ing.

Dr. Robert Bain- bridge, assistant pro- fessor of education at San Jose State College, will conduct one ses- sion.

August 23-25 prin- cipals will work in their schools, according to the tentative schedule; then meet in final session August 26 to check all details for school opening.

August 30-31 will be the district office curriculum workshop dates.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Sir:

This letter is written to restate the position of the Good Government Group of Saratoga, with respect to the West Valley Junior College.

Last spring, we polled our membership con- cerning the Saratoga site, and as to whether we should support or oppose the bond issue which would provide the means to finance its acquisition. The di- rection that we received from our members was clear and unequivocal, and we did so oppose it.

More to the point, the citizens of Saratoga expressed themselves in a similar manner at the polls, voting against the bond issue by a majority of nearly three to one.

While the meaning of the vote in Saratoga precincts is clear to us; i.e., an overwhelming majority of Saratoga residents do not want the first permanent campus at the Fruitvale site, we see no sign that it is being correctly in- terpreted by the West Valley Junior College administration or by its governing board.

In support of this statement, we cite the following:

1. Land purchases for the Saratoga site are going forward.

2. The Board has not responded to offers from the municipalities within the district, nor from various tax- payers' associations, to work together in the interest of other solu- tions. Neither has the Board made any real attempt to activate its Citizens' Advisory Committee.

3. Architectural planning for the Fruit- vale site has pro- gressed from the gen- eral to the detailed stage, with frequent Board reviews. It is clear that the archi- tects' instructions have not been altered by the Board since the elec- tion.

4. The Board has embarked upon a course of action of dubious legality, in order quickly to as- semble funds for continued site acquisition.

At the present time, West Valley Junior College has unencum- bered funds amounting to $957 thousand. On July 26th the Board voted to transfer nearly all of this money, $900 thousand, to their spe- cial reserve fund for capital expenditures. Apparently efforts are continuing to free an additional $600 thou- sand of tuition funds for diversion to the same purpose. In any case, this leaves only a few thousand dollars avail- able for college opera- ting expenses until there is new tax mon- ey.

To summarize, then, the West Valley Junior College Board appar- ently intends to finance continued acquisition of the Saratoga (Fruit- vale) site by post- poning payment of just obligations, and by borrowing money from the county; both against taxes yet to be levied and collected.

We, the Board of Directors of the Good Government Group be- lieve, therefore, that the current WVJC bud- get and supporting ac- tions taken by the West Valley Junior College Board constitute:

Disregard of the will of the people, as ex- pressed in the bond election last spring.

Unbusiness-like management of public money.

Dorothea Parker, Secretary, pro. tem.

Grass Roots

The Fuchsia was named for German Botanist, Leonhard Fuchs, about 300 years after his death in 1566. In the Andes in Chile and also in New Zealand Fuchsias grow wild and are called Species.

Some may be seen in parks and in gardens of some private growers.

California hybri- dizers have created more varieties in the last 40 years than were created since their dis- covery by the rest of the world.

Fuchsias are shade- loving plants and cannot stand strong winds. In the Santa Clara Valley one cannot expect the big blossoms that are seen on the coast.

They require porous soil with good drainage and are heavy feeders. Fish emulsion or any good fertilizer will work.

In mid February, after the frost, heavy pruning is necessary. In order to get a full bush, pinching is the answer.

In hot weather a fine sprinkling occasionally is good to dust the leaves, freshen the plants, and disturb some insects.

To propagate take a small slip, four to five inches, and plant in coarse sand mixed with peat. When new growth is visible, the young plants can be trans- planted in regular mix of leaf mold and peat moss and also redwood compost and some soil.

West Valley College sets up $900,000 special reserve

West Valley College Board of Trustees, at a special meeting, es- tablished a $900,000 special reserve fund for use in acquisition and improvement of sites, buildings, e- quipment and library books.

By their move the Board made available for capital outlay pur- poses funds described as "in no way restrict- ed" to other college obligations.

On June 8 the trust- ees set up a special reserve fund of $1.3 million and asked C. R. Timpany, County Superintendent of Schools, to transfer that amount from the college's general fund for that purpose.

Timpany replied that he could not do so since, he said, he had already transferred $671,000 of the col- lege's general fund into a restricted tuition tax fund. Thus, he said, the college did not have the $1.3 million in uncommitted reserve funds. The trustees are now seeking a legal opinion on the matter.

Meanwhile, in order to use that portion of the unappropriated general fund, about which there is no question, President Wallace W. Hall re- commended setting up the $900,000 special reserve fund. After paying all bills for July, he said, the col- lege will have an actual cash balance of $957,000. He asked that $900,000 of that amount be placed in the special fund, and the trustees agreed.

In another action the trustees approved ap- pointment of George Grubb Jr. as an in- structor in engineering. Grubb has a bachelor's degree from Cornell University and a mas- ter's degree from Stan- for University.

RICHARD PENROSE
Richard Penrose resigns post on Moreland board

Board member, Richard H. Penrose has announced his re- signation from the Moreland School Dis- trict Board of Trustees effective this Tuesday, August 3. Penrose indicated that the rea- son for his resignation was a change of resi- dence which would make him ineligible to serve on the Board. He expressed regret at the termination of his association with the Board which "though short has been very satisfying."

An attorney, Penrose has recently estab- lished the law offices of Finch, Penrose and House at 65 W. Hamil- ton Ave., Campbell, California. Beside the change in law firm association for Pen- rose, the family has also moved its resi- dence out of the More- land District.

Penrose has served on the Board since July of 1964. He ran successfully for elec- tion to the Board in April, 1965, and was recently sworn in for his first elected term.

Board Chairman, Eugene Riordan, ex- pressed regret at the resignation of Penrose. He announced that the Board invites appli- cations from any in- terested members of the community who wish to serve on the Board of Trustees.
